BLANCO

Life is a blank slate – filled with possibilities, promise, and potential. It falls on us to take each step of our journey living life to the fullest and turning those myriad possibilities into the reality we desire. And that desire is at the heart of Aldez Blanco. After the second distillation, the “heart” of the liquid is kept in stainless steel tanks for over 10 months before being bottled. This allows the liquid to rest, producing an unaged tequila that is bold, balanced and smooth. Our Blanco pairs and blends perfectly with the possibilities that lie before each one of us.
