BAR CONVENT BROOKLYN (BCB) – COVID-19 UPDATE

Bar Convent Brooklyn (BCB) will take place as scheduled on June 9 & 10, 2020.

At this time of global concern, Reed Exhibitions and BCB are closely monitoring developments related to the COVID-19 virus and are working diligently to ensure the safety of our exhibitors, attendees and staff at the upcoming Bar Convent Brooklyn (BCB). We are following the latest guidance from local, state and national authorities as it relates to travel and participation in our events. We are committed to implementing up to date best practices in accordance with public health guidance, including those issued by the CDC, the NYC Department of Health and the New York State Department of Health.

The bar and beverage industry is an amazing community and we are excited to offer a platform to unite the trade and celebrate the industry. We will continue to be proactive and take necessary precautions to facilitate an environment for our customers to make meaningful connections, discover new products, and gain valuable education from thought-leaders in the industry.

We are focused on making BCB 2020 a successful and enjoyable event for all attendees and exhibitors, and the well-being of our exhibitors, attendees and staff is our #1 priority. We will continue to keep you up to date by communicating the latest information on our website.

We look forward to welcoming you to the show. To register, go to barconventbrooklyn.com.
